Log library is approved by council

In a dramatic move last week, the Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council has approved the purchase of a log structure for the community's new library-cultural centre. The initial approval came at the October 22 meeting with final approval being made at a meeting with the library committee last Friday.

The estimated cost for the new building has been set at $55,000, although according to the municipality's clerk-treasurer, this figure has not been finalized.

The bid accepted by the council was offered by 1867 Confederation Log Homes, a company owned by Ronald Wrightman of Minden.

Members of the council appeared to have been swayed to the log construction because of the unique design and that interior finishing of walls would not be required.

The selection of the log design caused one spectator in the audience Wednesday evening to question the decision of the council. She noted that the specifications for the new library had called for a decorative block structure and that if the council intended to change to a log design, it should make an effort to contact other log building contractors in the community to see if they were willing to bid on the project.

Other tenders opened at the Wednesday meeting were based on the block design. Elstone Construction of Haliburton bid $29,442; Don Campbell Construction of Minden bid $31,061; Peterborough Lumber of Minden bid $39,721; and the initial bid from 1867 Confederation Log Homes was $48,487. (This bid was later revised upward, although no firm figure has been set, to meet a number of changes requested by the committee.)

The meeting was told that all bids represented the cost for a shell of a building and that interior finishing, including electrical and plumbing work would be in addition to the bids received. The municipality has already spent $26,000 for the cement pad on which the building will sit and a second pad for the present library.

In response to the suggestion that other log builders in the county should be contacted before the contract is let, Reeve Sinc Nesbitt said they had been notified earlier in the day that the municipality was considering a log structure for the new building.

The builder suggested that since his construction methods are unique, using machine made dovetail corners and tongue and groove fittings between each log, the municipality was under no obligation to invite other log builders to bid. "The design of our buildings is unique in Canada. There is nobody else who can build a structure like we can," he commented, indicating that this fact relieved the municipality of having to seek other bids. He said this same situation had arisen in Coe Hill and the municipality's lawyer had backed that stand.

Councillor Len Lonsberry pointed out to the meeting that the original library concept had called for a building costing approximately $90,000. He said that with the log structure, the cost of the building could exceed $100,000.

Councillor Stuart Brandon credited Wrightman with taking the initiative to bring his proposal to the council. He indicated that if the other log builders in the area had done the same their designs might have been considered as well.

A advertisement inviting tenders on the project was published in this newspaper a number of weeks ago. Without indicating the style or type of construction, the ad invited contractors to obtain a copy of the specifications for the new building at the township offices. The specifications called for a decorative block building.

The council went into a closed session for about three quarters of an hour during which Wrightman was included in part of the secret discussions.

When the open meeting began again the council announced that no decision had been taken, but later in the meeting the bid of 1867 was accepted, subject to the approval of the library committee.

OPP caution

The OPP wish to remind motorists and pedestrians to use extreme caution this Friday evening during Hallowe'en.

The frost and early snow that we have had lately has made driving quite slippery.

Many streets have leaves on them and when wet the leaves are as slippery as ice when a motorist applies the brakes.

Cottagers to study report

The Horseshoe Lake Cottagers Association has been asked to study a report on the causeway to Shuyler's Island before any further action is taken by Minden council to increase the size or number of culverts under the road. The report, prepared by Totten, Sims and Hubicki for the township, found that there would be no benefit to the quality of water in the back bay portion of the lake if the extra culverts were installed.

The matter came up for discussion at the October 22 meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council.

The report by the engineers had been prompted by a request earlier this summer from lake association members that the size of culverts and their number be increased in the causeway. The association spokesman claimed the causeway had reduced the circulation of water in the back bay area causing the water quality to deteriorate. He pointed out that a scum had formed on that part of the lake during the summer. The association felt that increasing the opportunity for lake water to circulate under the causeway, which links the mainland with Shuyler's Island, would help to reduce the deterioration of water quality.

Gord Crosby, an engineer with the consulting firm, told the meeting that a hydrological engineer had assessed the problem and determined that the velocity of water through the lake was so low that little or no "flushing action" took place. He said the flow through the lake was so slow that there was no way to calculate the benefits of increasing the openings on the causeway.

The engineer said that the movement of the water is affected more by winds than any other factor.

A representative of the lake association, G. Lucas, noted that Duck Creek flows into the area where the water has been stagnating. He wondered if this input of water would not help to create a current strong enough to "flush" the bay, if there were enough openings under the causeway.

The engineer commented that there is some movement of water in the area now, but not enough to create a flushing action.

In turning the report over to the lake association for comment, Reeve Sinc Nesbitt noted the problems which the township encountered when the causeway was constructed. He pointed out that the soil at the bottom of the lake was unstable and that disturbing the road which is now in place could result in serious problems. He also pointed out that the request of the lake association for a larger opening in the causeway will probably make little difference since the back bay area covers 500 acres.

Nesbitt also noted that it was doubtful the Ministry of Transportation and Com-

Sewers, industry lead voters list of concerns

The municipally owned sewer and water systems, industrial development, access to lakes and rivers, the possibility of incorporating a ward system into the municipal election structure topped the list of concerns expressed by some 80 people on hand for the meet the candidates night Tuesday at the Minden Community Centre.

The audience was on hand to hear what the five candidates for the three vacant seats at the council table and the two candidates for reeve in the municipality planned for the future of this municipality. The questions, which followed short introductory remarks from the candidates in the riding, reflected the major concerns of those present.

The chairman for the evening was Jim Garbutt. Certainly heading the list of questions, most of which were aimed at incumbent candidates, were a number of concerns about the sewer and water systems in the village.

The inquiries on the new services started by asking for clarification as to how the municipality was able to acquire a deficit in the water system of close to $35,000.00. Councillor Lyle McKnight told the audience that the deficit in the water system had grown over a number of years. He said the water rates had not been increased in the community since 1978 and that a surplus which existed in the system prior to that time was eaten up by the increasing costs.

He also stated that a large portion of the deficit came from interest charges on money borrowed to install the water tower and extend the water lines.

A question asked why residents were required to pay user fees even if their home or residence was not hooked into the sewer system and, when they did apply for the connection they were required to pay a $10.00 fee for the application. McKnight said this was to help defray the cost of the time needed by the various municipal officials who must process the application. It was also pointed out the everyone in the municipality was responsible for the cost of operating the sewer system and if the pipes passed in front of their home or business, they should be required to shoulder a portion of the burden.

McKnight, responding to another question, admitted the council was not aware of the growing deficit in the water system. He said the

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

Probably one of the most controversial projects to be attempted in the tourist industry in a number of years is the grading system now being brought on stream by Tourism Ontario. The research and preparation they have put into the project so far would suggest that it will be well done and accomplish all that is expected of it, but the pitfalls and problems they are bound to encounter are many and varied. The industry does agree generally, that in spite of the difficulties, it is worth doing, and in fact may even be a necessity to our very survival in the competitive world market for tourism dollars.

Tourism Ontario, although subsidized by some Ontario Government money, is not a government body, but rather an association that represents all the other associations involved in the tourist industry. Local operators may either have representation on that board through our membership in Central Ontario Travel Association, or through their own membership in organizations such as Resorts Ontario, Ontario Hotel & Motel Association, or the Ontario Private Campground Association.

The directors are all volunteers, but they, like the Chamber, have a paid staff and will be employing full time inspectors to carry out grading on all facilities that sign up for the program.

It should be stressed that the program is voluntary, but has the full support of the Ministry of Industry and Tourism. Those that have been graded will therefore be highlighted in the 400,000 accommodation guides produced and distributed by the Ministry each year. It is anticipated that tourists will soon relate to the star rating that categorizes the grade of facility is not only within their pocket book but also fits their expectations.

Two mailings have been done to the members of the industry to date and a series of seminars are being held to explain the process in detail and answer any questions. The first sign of things becoming controversial showed up at a meeting at Huntsville last week. Some present were very concerned about the fact that there will be no attempt, at least for now, to grade "subjective" items such as reputation of establishment, atmosphere, quality of food, friendliness and courtesy of staff, and property location and convenience.

Some of these specifics were deemed to be so important to some individual resorts, and in affect their rates, that they would not consider participating in the program unless they were included. This could certainly be the situation in the case of our older resorts that rely more on their character and gourmet food than new facilities to entice the guests. If there are enough operators in this category that are concerned, presumably Tourism Ontario could be convinced to re-examine their priorities on this point.

The organizers of this project are certainly to be congratulated for their efforts to date and we would hope that a major portion of our accommodation facilities here in Haliburton County will consider participating. Anyone who has not received the mailings that have been completed may obtain further information by writing Tourism Ontario, 180 Bloor St. West, Toronto M5S 2V6.

Meet your candidates

Some all-candidates meetings have already been held throughout the county and we would hope they were well attended. Meetings still to be held are as follows:

Wednesday, October 29 - Snowden, Gelert Community Hall 8:00 p.m.

Friday, October 31 - Monmouth, Lloyd Watson Memorial Hall 7:00 p.m.

Monday, November 3 - Dysart, Haliburton Arena Auditorium 7:00 p.m.

Advance polls are to be held Saturday, November 1st from 9:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Remember - "If You Don't Vote - You Don't Count".

Advance polls are to be held Saturday, November 1st

Ad deadline extended

The Chamber's marketing campaign for this year has been meeting with enthusiastic support from all the members we have talked with, but we are behind schedule somewhat in reaching everyone. For that reason we have extended the deadline and Dave Chatfield will be assisting us in a seven week blitz to make sure all of you are included in this excellent program. We should be in to see you within that time -- but don't take a chance -- phone our office at 286-1760 and leave a message that you don't want to be missed on this one!

Trial delay again

The hearing of charges against the Rockcliffe Hotel, of allowing excessive noise has been delayed once again.

During Provincial Court October 28, Judge George Inrig set the hearing over to November 18.

The hearing was postponed when it was revealed that one of the precedents cited by the defense in support of its case had been overturned by the Ontario Supreme Court. Defense lawyer Ted Gardener said he had been unaware of the circumstances surrounding the Supreme Court reversal and requested additional time to study the consequences of the change. The municipality is represented by lawyer Fraser Rogers.

The judge asked that the lawyers return November 18 to present their arguments. No witnesses will be called at that time. The judge said he would rule on whether the case would proceed at that time.

The charge against the owners of the hotel was laid by the municipality during the summer of 1979. The hearing of the charges has been delayed on a number of occasions due to technical matters.

Horseshoe lake causeway munications would assist financially with the project. He said the association should consider using its own funds to meet the expenses of further engineering studies and any work that follows.

The causeway linking the island with the mainland was built in the early 1950's. According to Reeve Nesbitt those constructing the road were often forced to dump many loads of fill into the lake before a solid footing for the road could be obtained.

The association spokesman said he would take the study back to his group for consideration and would probably be returning to council in the future with their comments and suggestions.

Sparks flare from the torch as Robert Hope welds lead to the header pipe for the Minden Curling Club refrigeration system. The work on the new structure next to the community centre is continuing with a large part of the block work completed and the roof now in place.

Fear of rabid dog spurs health alert in Haliburton Village

Health officials in Haliburton Village were placed on alert last week when 13 children in the community came in contact with what was believed to be a rabid dog. Fortunately initial tests on the animal showed no signs of the fatal infection.

The incident began early Thursday morning when school children were gathering at various locations throughout the community to board school buses. At two of these locations a small collie type dog with brown and white markings, which appeared to be cold and shivering, mingled among the youngsters, being petted by a number of them.

According to Bob MacNaull of the Haliburton Health Unit, the animal was later observed having trouble walking and appeared to be trembling. Animal control officer for Dysart, Bob English was sent to investigate and, after observing the dog's behavior felt there was enough evidence to suspect the animal was infected with rabies.

The animal was shot and the head sent immediately to Peterborough to be tested.

While the testing was being carried out, health officials talked to students at Haliburton schools in an effort to identify those who had come in contact with the dog.

By the end of the day, 13 students had been identified as having petted the animal. MacNaull noted that some students had gloves or mitts on when they petted the dog and that if the animal was diseased this would reduce the chances of contamination.

That evening the parents of the children were also contacted and further interviews were carried out. "Some of the youngsters were five and six years of age," MacNaull noted. "The young ones were certainly not aware of the seriousness of the incident and we thought it might be of assistance to have the parents help us assess the children's report of what had taken place that morning." In addition the personal physicians of each of the children were notified.

The health unit officials were also prepared to appeal to area radio and television stations to broadcast announcements asking anyone who had come into contact with the dog to notify the unit. This action was a stand-by measure in case the tests on the animal proved positive.

The tissue of the animal was tested immediately and the Haliburton Health Unit office was notified Friday morning that the tests were negative.

MacNaull said the tests carried out by the government laboratory gave an almost 100 percent accuracy reading.

However, he pointed out that since human contact had occurred, cells from the brain of the dog were injected into mice. The mice will be kept under observation for 30 days to ascertain if they develop symptoms of the disease.

MacNaull said once the Health Unit had been notified of the incident, the agency was ready to react. "Rabies serum is available through the Health Unit office and amounts were set aside for the number of possible cases," he commented.

Authorities have been unable to find the owner of the animal and note that the dog was not wearing a collar or tag.

According to MacNaull there have been a number of cases of rabid animals in the county during the past year but in all instances they involved wild animals. "This is the first case in which an animal suspected of being rabid came in contact with humans," he commented.

Maybe it's time you jumped into something more demanding than a car pool.

Moose hunt should surpass 1978 figures

Reports from hunters and Ministry of Natural Resources personnel indicate this year's harvest of moose in the county will likely equal or surpass the record set two years ago.

According to Eric Mitchell of MNR, some 70 moose were taken during the 1978 season.

Mitchell noted that it was too early to issue definite statistics as it could be up to two months before all reports of kills have been returned to the ministry. "It is a rough count", he explained, "based on what some hunters have told us or what our personnel have seen in the field."

The moose hunting season in this area ran from October 20 to 25. This was the first time the season for the moose has not corresponded with the deer season. Deer hunters take to the woods next week.

Mitchell noted that most of the moose are found in the northern part of the county, particularly in Sherborne, Eyre and Havelock Townships. "Many of the moose in that area are from the herd in Algonquin Park," the MNR spokesman said. He noted that the protected herd in the park acts as a source of replenishment of the herd outside of the park.

In addition the spokesman said the moose population is slowly expanding in the area. This is in contrast to a dramatic decline in the provincial moose population over the past 20 years. "We are on the fringe of moose territory," Mitchell explained.

The spokesman said that indications are that the deer herd will be slightly larger this season as well.

Annual turkey shoot

Marksman will once again have an opportunity to test their skills this weekend as the Kinsmen Club of Minden, in co-operation with the local club, sponsors its annual turkey shoot, November 1.

The action takes place Saturday at the range north of Minden. Competitions include hand guns, .22 rifle, high power rifles and trap shoot with frozen birds being given as prizes.

Refreshments will be available at the range.

Members of the Haliburton County Marksmen Club will be assisting the Kinsmen Club in organizing the event.

The shoot gets underway at noon and all shooters are invited to take part.

Unfair

The decision of Anson, Hindon and Minden Township council to accept the proposal of 1867 Confederation Log Homes for the new Library-cultural centre threatens to undermine the fairness of the tendering system in this municipality. Indeed, we question whether an impartial outside observer would accept what the council has done as being fair to all, including those who pay the bills, the taxpayers.

The council sought bids from contractors on a building for the new library-cultural centre. The specifications were to the point. A decorative cement block building was the basis on which contractors were invited to submit their construction prices.

Not only were these details spelled out in specification sheets available at the municipal office, it was common knowledge throughout the community that the library committee and council were seeking a building constructed in the "conventional" manner.

However, at the last minute, a local entrepreneur was able to convince the council of the superiority of a log structure which he manufactures. The council has agreed to his proposal, accepting the bid of the log home builder which was almost $20,000 more than the lowest tender received.

The question here is not whether the log design is superior, or if it will be aesthetically more pleasing, a tourist attraction or even the cost of the final product. These and other arguments in favour of the log design have been raised by members of council. They may all be correct, but they are also merely smoke screens which hide the real issue at stake.

The nub of the matter is whether the council has the legal and moral right to ask for bids on a structure which they request to be built with cement blocks, and then at the last minute decide what they really want is a log building.

The builders who offered bids according to the specifications prepared by the municipality must be confused, frustrated and bitter because of what the council has done. Other contractors of log style buildings in the county, many of whom would be eager for a "showplace" such as the library-cultural centre to demonstrate their talents, must also be upset and equally bitter.

The council has made a mockery of the tendering process as a fair and equitable method of determining the cost of major municipal projects. It has also called into question its own credibility as a body responsible for the care and control of taxpayers money.

We all want to have a library-cultural centre completed as quickly as possible and there is no doubt there are many who would agree that a log structure would be a unique and interesting building for that purpose. However, the taxpayers also deserve to know they are getting full value for their money. The route the council has chosen to follow leaves that matter unanswered.

The only resolution of the dilemma is to ask for new tenders, with exact specifications. Only in this way will a degree of fairness and credibility be returned to the tarnished tendering process in this municipality.

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT

by William C. Scott, M.P.

The deep feelings of alienation among Canadians, and in Parliament, was strengthened last Thursday night when the government invoked closure to shut off debate on Prime Minister Trudeau's constitutional resolution.

When he tabled his resolution in the House of Commons on October 6, the Prime Minister said that he wanted all Members to participate in the debate on the Motion, and yet he invoked closure before even half the Members in the Opposition parties had had an opportunity to speak.

The Prime Minister said that the Opposition parties were stalling the resolution in the house and preventing it from going to committee, but the fact is that more Liberal than Conservative Members had spoken on the measure when debate was shut off.

Seven out of the ten provincial governments have rejected Mr. Trudeau's constitutional proposals flatly, and six of them have joined forced to challenge the validity of his resolution in provincial courts. At least one other provincial government is lukewarm to the proposals.

This dissatisfaction on the part of the provinces, and on the part of the Official Opposition in the House of Commons, is just too important to be ignored. The Right Honourable Joe Clark, Leader of the Opposition in the House, asked the Prime Minister to take this into account and extend his deadline for completion of Committee hearings from December 9 to February 22. Mr. Trudeau refused.

Last Thursday morning I rose in the House and moved a Motion Under House Standing Order 43, asking the Prime Minister to test his proposals in the Supreme Court of Canada to clear up doubts in the minds of Canadians as to the constitutionality of the government resolution. Some Liberal and NDP Members refused to allow my motion to carry.

The government resolution was tabled in the Senate at the same time that it was presented in the House, and not all Liberal Senators approve of the Prime Minister's methods in trying to bring home the constitution.

Senator George McIlraith, a Liberal Member of Parliament for over 50 years, a former Cabinet Minister and now a Liberal Senator said on October 21 in the Senate that Mr. Trudeau's choice of a joint House/Senate committee to study the resolution was not a proper one.

The Senator said that the committee would not be able to function under either the rules of the House or the Senate, and would therefore be limited in its effectiveness. He said that in a legal sense the committee would be non-existent, and there would not be any way that the committee would be able to make recommendations to the House with regard to amendments.

What this means is that Trudeau has in effect created his own vehicle to ensure that his resolution will slip through both Houses of Parliament in a minimum of time, and with the barest minimum of public debate.

Joe Clark has urged all Members of the Conservative caucus in the House to get the message across to the Canadian people that "what the Liberals are saying in their advertising campaign, and what is actually in their Constitutional package are two different things."

Trudeau says that he is bringing home the BNA Act, but he is really trying to bring home a much-amended BNA Act, complete with a locked-in amending formula that effectively shuts the provincial governments out of the decision making process on national issues.

By using their majority in the House to inflict on us a made-by Trudeau constitution, the Liberal government in Ottawa is guilty of the most flagrant abuse of power ever perpetrated by the Canadian Parliament. A constitution should be the result of public discussion and agreement, not a product of wheeling and dealing in the back rooms of power.

Letters Letters

Editor:

I am writing this letter to express our appreciation to all the citizens who gave assistance to the members of Minden Detachment during the search that was conducted for the late Mr. Grenville Dart.

During the evening of the 3rd of October 1980 this detachment was made aware that Mr. Dart had gone missing in the bush area around Fort Irwin. During the next three days an extensive search was made by our members and volunteers from the area.

The area covered by the search consisted of very dense bush spotted by swamps, beaver ponds, windfalls, and crisscrossed by logging roads. On top of this the weather was extremely adverse as it continued to rain all the time the search was being conducted.

I would like to thank every person who participated in any capacity. There were searchers who walked the bush, the people who drove the roads, the persons who assisted with advice who knew the area. There must be a special thanks to the ladies of the community who kept everyone supplied with sandwiches and hot coffee.

I have written letters to most of those involved but I would like to use this space to say it, again and to ensure no one is missed.

Once again thank you on behalf of the Department for your assistance and co-operation during this very difficult task.

Speaking on behalf of our members, we wish to express our sympathy to the Dart family.

W.R. Bailey,
Sergeant,

Culinary delights from youthful chefs

Chef: Geoff Bunn
Dish: Spaghetti Out of a bag
Put it in a pot and let it boil for awhile. Then you take it out of the pot. Rinse the water out. Put in tomato soup and some cans of milk. Then you put orange cheese and white cheese on it. We've had it sometimes.

Chef: Michael Klockhoff
Dish: Apple Pie
You put apples in it. That's one thing. You make the dough. Just make it so it's crisp and you have to make some holes in it. Kind of triangles in it. Eat it up!
Spaghetti
You buy this mix for it. You buy spaghetti mix too.
Put hot water in a big, big tin bowl or glass. You let it boil for a while. Put the spaghetti in it and you have to wait for it to get done.
If you have sauce for it put it in a separate one. As soon as its done you start giving it to people.

Chef: Jarett Gentle
Dish: Pork Chops
Well, you put them in the oven. When they are almost finished you spread them with sugar and mustard. You mix them up. Then you flip them and do the other side. When it is almost finished you get most of the fat off the meat. That's it!

Chef: Kevin Fairey
Dish: Some Kind of Cookie
You have rolled oats and it turned out to be chocolate. They're good and they have coconut in them and rolled oats. You put chocolate powder in them. Then you cook them and then you leave them out anywhere. If they don't turn out well, I don't know what you can do!

Chef: Holly Archer
Dish: How to Make a Cake
You take some butter and a special kind of powder and also eggs. Put it in a pan and

Chef: Nancy Bird
Dish: Pizza
There are little packages with stuff in it. Then you put it in one of those round pans. Then you put some pepperonies and mushrooms and everything and spices on it and you can put this ordinary kind of cheese on it. Then you put it in the oven and then you wait for a few minutes until it's cooked.

Chef: Timmy Reid
Dish: Rice
Put in a pan. Then you put some water in it. Then you cook it in the stove for 25 minutes. Then you put some butter in it. Then you put it back in for 10 minutes. Then you eat it.

Chef: Dallas Copeland
Dish: Chocolate Licks
You add hot water to the chocolate things that you get in chocolate cookies. Stir them and then you put them in an ice pan and then you know the lollipop sticks, you stick them in, then you stick them in the freezer. Leave them for a couple of hours. Cut out around edges till you can get them out. Then you can lick them. They taste good!

Chef: Tammy Walker

HHSS honours outstanding students

Six Ontario Scholars were among the many students to receive awards Saturday evening as Haliburton Highlands Secondary School paid tribute to the outstanding students of the 1979-80 school year.
The annual presentation drew a large crowd to the high school auditorium to watch as the honours were bestowed. Parents, relatives, fellow students and staff members of the high school were on hand to congratulate the award winners, many of whom had returned from colleges and universities to accept their prizes.
The six Ontario Scholars, students achieving an overall average of 80% in year five, included Martha Carnochan 80.8%, Jocelyn Kennedy 85.8%, Paul Madden 90.8%, Edward Roberts 84.8%, David Shapiera 80.7%, and Gregory Taylor 80.5%. Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins presented the scholars with their certificates and cheques for $100.
HHSS principal Brian Mosgrove told the audience that this year there were 100 honour students in the school, 48 of the students achieving that mark for the first time. He noted that this was the highest number of students to receive the honours accolade in the past five years.

The school also pays tribute to those students who surpassed or equalled the 80% mark in four consecutive years. Those named to the HHSS honour society are Cheryl Bruce, Lorna Carnegie, Elizabeth Cooper, Laurie Hartin, Heather Kennedy, Michael Wright, Miriam Vanderwal, Shelley Thomson, Lee Potter and Brenda Morrison. It was pointed out that Lee Potter and Elizabeth Cooper are currently out of the country as part of the Rotary Club International student exchange program. Lee is in Mexico while Elizabeth is spending a year in Finland.
One of the most prestigious awards presented each year is the high school letter. The awarding of the letter acknowledges the students who have excelled academically, in school sports, other school activities and in the social aspects of the high school community. The five students who received the letter this year were Michael Iles, Jocelyn Kennedy, Paul Madden, Edward Roberts and David Shapiera.

Perfect attendance
Those students receiving certificates for perfect attendance during the 1979-80 school term include: Craig Archer, Wayne Beaver, Lianne Bittman, Shane Blakey, Dana Colliver, Jeffrey Foran, Robert Heywood, Katherine Mosgrove, William Mulholland, Christopher Nicholls, Michael Pearsell, Melvyn Ridgewell, Randy Sawyer, Nancy Shipley, Wendy Sicard, Karen Stewart, Catherine Tyler, Wayne Welch, Jeffrey Whitfield, and Susan Wingat.

Honours students
The following students attained an overall average of 80% during last year's school term.

Year five
Five year honours: Martha Carnochan, Jocelyn Kennedy, Paul Madden, Edward Roberts, David Shapiera, and Gregory Taylor.
Two year honours: Shelley Hicks.

Year four
Four year honours: Lorna Carnegie, Elizabeth Cooper, Laurie Hartin, Heather Kennedy, Brenda Morrison, Lee Potter, Shelley Thomson,

Six single car accidents

Six single car accidents, including two involving deer, occurred in the county during the past week, according to details released Monday by Minden OPP.

A deer was killed October 24 when it was in collision with a vehicle driven by Earl Huras, 52, of Norland. Huras was travelling south on Highway 35 south of Minden when the animal darted onto the road. The accident caused $800 damage to the vehicle.

Constable Weldon Popp investigated.

Roll over

A car driven by Joanne Simmons, 22, of Toronto left Highway 503 east of Irondale and rolled over Saturday shortly after noon. The vehicle sustained $1200 damage.

Constable Jim Solway of the Minden OPP investigated the mishap.

Slushy roadway

Slush on the road is being blamed for an accident on Highway 121 west of Haliburton. Mark Doherty, 19, of Haliburton was the driver of the vehicle which left the road early Sunday morning. The car struck a rock cut causing $2000 damage to the vehicle.

The mishap was investigated by Constable Weldon Popp.

Hits guideposts

Snowy roads were again to blame later the same morning as the car driven by Perry Peters, 23, of Peterborough, skidded on Highway 503 west of Tory Hill, swerved out of control and clipped five guideposts. The 1976 model car sustained $2500 damage while the damage to the posts was estimated at $110.

The accident was investigated by Constable Dennis Potter.

Hits rock cut

Michael Polan, 19, of Don Mills, was treated for minor injuries following an accident south of Minden on Highway 35. The mishap occurred just before eight o'clock in the morning, Sunday, October 26.

According to police, Polan was travelling south when he lost control of the vehicle which entered the east ditch and struck a rock cut. The vehicle sustained $2000 damage.

The accident was investigated by Constable Barry Connelly.

Second deer

Another deer fell victim to a car Sunday evening near the Furnace Falls bridge on Highway 503. Emile Mathieu, 52, of Gooderham, was travelling east when the animal ran out in front of his car. The vehicle sustained $600 damage.

Singing priest to visit Haliburton

County residents will be able to enjoy an inspiring musical evening this Thursday as Father Carey Landry performs in the Haliburton Senior Elementary School Library.

Father Landry is of Acadian background, but is currently serving as a parish priest in Virginia. His songs are known by people of all denominations with his musical ministry to children being particularly well known.

He will be appearing in Haliburton at the invitation of St. George's Anglican Church, supported by St. Anthony's and Our Lady of Fatima Roman Catholic churches. Those wishing to attend the performance can obtain tickets from the members of the sponsoring congregations.

60 attend Stanhope candidates meeting

Close to 60 citizens were on hand Saturday evening to take part in an all candidates meeting at the Stanhope Community Hall. The meeting, under the chairmanship of Alex Stevenson, was attended by eight of the nine candidates in the township.

Some of those who spoke to the audience had already been acclaimed to their positions. They expressed their appreciation for the continued support of the electorate.

Reeve Jim Harrison, who was returned to office by acclamation, told the audience he hoped during the next two years to justify the confidence the voters had placed in him. He stressed that the council should continue to improve the roads system in Stanhope and pledged his efforts in obtaining Ontario Home Renewal Program (OHRP) funds for the township.

Deputy Reeve Elgin Stouffer told the audience he was pleased to be able to serve for another two year term and thanked the residents for their continued support.

Leroy Eager, one of two Board of Education trustees from Stanhope who were acclaimed to the post, told the audience that the management of the education system within the county appears to be operating satisfactorily. He pointed out that many students from the county system carry on to higher forms of education, an indication of the quality of learning taking place in the county schools.

The only election taking place in Stanhope Township this year is for the three positions of councillor. Five residents have allowed their names to stand for the posts.

Ann Barker told the audience of her activities in community affairs as a volunteer in Stanhope Township. She has served as chairman of the Stanhope Fun Days this past summer. Barker pledged to do her best if elected to the council.

Harry Davis, an incumbent member of the council, reviewed the past two years of activity noting the high points of the year.

He noted he had attended all of the regular meetings of the council during the past two year term. He pledged to do his best for the township if re-elected.

Newcomer Penny Googh told the audience that she felt a woman's voice would be an asset on the local council. She noted that close to half the residents of the township were female and that having a woman at the council table would help to get that point of view heard.

Googh noted that she was employed as a secretary with a real estate firm and that this had given her exposure to many of the problems of the property owners.

She said the council should be working to improve the road system in the township, that non-polluting industry should be attracted to the area and that an effort should be made to preserve the former township office, turning it into a museum to house historical items from the township.

Googh also suggested that a woman's auxiliary for the township could be formed to assist where needed.

Incumbent councillor Elvin Johnson told the audience that in his years on council, the rewards outweighed the frustrations. He pointed out that he had been involved in a number of programs centred on recreation which benefitted from provincial government grants.

He said the log chute at Hawk Lake, which was partially restored in 1971, should be completed. He noted the historic value of the chute and said it would be an attraction for tourists as well.

Dale MacDonald, who has attended many meetings of the township council as a spectator, told the gathering he was interested in the operations of the township.

A question and answer period followed the statements by the candidates.

Board of Education trustee Leroy Eager responded to one comment from the floor by telling the audience that the director of education would welcome suggestions from the public on changing the date of the spring break. Usually held in mid-March a suggestion has been made to move the date to earlier in the year.

Reeve Jim Harrison was asked if a lakefront property owner purchased the 66 foot shore allowance, would the taxes increase? The reeve noted that all the details of the transfer of the land from the township's control to abutting owners has not been worked out, however he suggested that increasing the size of the lot would mean an increase in assessed value of the property and therefore increased taxes.

Council candidate Ann Barker, asked to comment on the future of the airport in Stanhope said she wanted to consider the facility and all its aspects in depth before commenting on its usefulness and future.

Before the meeting adjourned the audience paid tribute to Roger Woods, a member of the 1979-80 township council who is not running this year. Al Rollins, who has served on the Stanhope council in the past and other municipal bodies, was also recognized by the audience for his contribution to the township. Al and his wife Lil are leaving the township to take up residence in Vancouver.

Council approves new market value assessment

Anson, Hindon and Minden ratepayers will join the majority of other townships in the county and use the current market value of property to determine municipal taxes.

The approval came at the October 22 meeting of the council following a presentation by Regional Assessment Officer Paul Lindquist. He presented an impact study to the members of the council outlining what the change in the base for determining assessment would mean to township taxpayers.

Lindquist told the meeting that changing to market value assessment will not greatly alter the amount of taxes the municipality is receiving at the present mill rate. He said it could mean that some taxes for some residents will increase, others will decrease while the majority will remain about the same.

The market evaluation of the properties will be based on 1978 figures with the factor used to determine the taxes paid being derived from a formula. He said the new factor and the one currently in use will be shown on the new tax bills to show residents how the change has affected their taxes.

An open house is being planned for later this year to explain to residents exactly what the change in calculating the taxes will mean in individual cases.

Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt asked the representative if other townships could be forced to participate in the program. Lindquist noted that there were only two municipalities in the county which had not yet agreed to the new assessment procedure. He said the ministry did not intend at this time to impose the change on the townships. He also noted that the new method is designed to correct inequities within a township rather than change imbalances that may exist among various townships within a county.

Lindquist said the assessment base should be updated every two years.

Nesbitt pointed out that a reassessment of municipal contributions to county needs will not be carried out until all townships are operating under the same assessment plan. "We will never make it to that cross-roads if we don't take this first step," Nesbitt commented.

With the approval of the council the new method of assessment is expected to be in use for computing 1981 taxes.

municipal auditor should have made a greater effort to bring it to the attention of council. He also noted that those property owners in areas where extensions to the water system were recently installed, pay a higher interest charge to cover the newer work. The charges for the water tower are being borne by all residents in the community with access to the water lines on an equal basis.

Another questioner asked Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt why the council had issued retroactive water bills in mid-summer to help cover the deficit in the system. Nesbitt responded by pointing out that the council had considered borrowing the funds from the bank to cover the deficit. The idea however was rejected because of the amount of interest that had to be paid.

"We were aware it was not going to be a popular decision," Nesbitt commented. "We knew it might be hard on some people, particularly those on fixed incomes, but you, the public, must pay the bill one way or the other. We felt it was the best way of doing it."

The questioner persisted, maintaining that she felt she did not have to pay the second bill since she had already paid for the water services for the year. The reeve pointed out that if the water bill is unpaid, the amount will be added to the taxes of the property in question.

Nesbitt said the bill for the interest charge had been handed in by the Ministry of the Environment "...after it had been sitting around on someone's desk in Toronto..."

Asked if the village ratepayers could expect another similar bill next year, Nesbitt said the township is exploring the possibility of obtaining grants to help cover the deficit.

On industrial development, the reeve described the area as being very close to obtaining DREE funding. "Once this comes through I think we will see small industry in the area," he commented. He also told the gathering that a number of townships hold an option on land along the Burnt River near the rail line. He indicated that this land was being saved for future industrial growth.

"It is difficult, in an area where cottagers and vacation people make up such a large number of ratepayers, to find a suitable place for industry," Nesbitt pointed out. He said the local council was considering rezoning a parcel of land for industrial purposes within a mile of the town.

McKnight commented it was difficult to find suitable land isolated enough for industry. "Whenever we try to rezone land, we receive complaints from the neighbours."

Water access

Concern was also expressed about public access to lakes within the municipality. It was pointed out that shore line property owned by the municipality was being sold and that this might reduce access to these bodies of water.

Nesbitt said the council was committed to maintaining public access to area lakes and rivers. He said this need had to be balanced with the rights of those near the access points for privacy. "No one is going to sell the last access point to area lakes," he commented.

On the ward system,

Nesbitt said the idea should be studied. He said problems existed with attempting to represent the outlying communities in the township, but pointed out that there was nothing stopping someone from Carnarvon, Ingoldsby or Blairhampton from seeking election to the council.

Other candidates at the table said they had not considered the aspects of a ward system and would not comment.

Other points brought up at the meeting include:

- Nesbitt said the council will continue to support the BIA for Minden Village. "We are waiting for the Ontario Municipal Board to set a hearing date," he commented.

- the reeve said the municipality is still trying to sue the Ministry of the Environment over the problems caused to area village roads with the installation of the sewer and water system. Before the township proceeds any further, he said the council should be sure they can win. He predicted it would cost close to $25,000 to see the case through to the end.

- it was suggested that public meetings similar to the one held Tuesday evening, should be held throughout the year to give residents an opportunity to present their complaints to the council. It was suggested that many people feel intimidated at council meetings and were more comfortable at an open forum meeting.

- the meeting was told the township has spent $1,400.00 attempting to enforce the noise by-law and that no final resolution of the case (against the Rockcliffe Hotel) has been reached. Nesbitt said the community should seek out other methods of resolving such problems but there must be by-laws as well, "to offer some protection." It was also pointed out that once the by-law has been accepted by the courts, it will not be as expensive to enforce next time.

- a suggestion that the agenda of upcoming meetings will be published newspaper or posted at the post office was rejected. Nesbitt said it was an agenda change too much at the time it is first drafted when the meeting takes place. He said the meeting agendas, the bulletin board by the office would create more work for the already overworked municipal staff. He said that interested citizens obtain agendas from the municipal office, must realize the agendas are incomplete and that items are added up to the meeting starts.

With that the meeting was closed. Chairman Garbutt expressed appreciation to the council and electors for their interest in the community.

We hope the responsible attitude of the young adults in the county will be evident again this year. In the past years there have been very few incidents of wilful damage or mischief associated with Hallowe'en in the area, although it has been some time since Hallowe'en has occurred on a weekend.

All available units from the Minden OPP will be utilized throughout the area on Friday evening and into Saturday morning. Strict enforcement will be applied to those who feel they must have their "fun" at someone else's expense by breaking the law.

One of the parents attending the county-wide meeting Thursday evening, Mike Legge, left, discusses a point with the guest speaker Mario Godlewski following the formal portion of the gathering. Interest in the formation of a parent-teacher organization for each of the schools appears to be growing. An article to the right provides more details on the meeting.

HCHSS review Between the pins

The following report on the month's activities of the Haliburton County Home Support Service was prepared by public relations officer for the organization, Catherine Denholm. The column will appear monthly in The Times.

The Board of the Haliburton County Home Support Services met on October 17 (always the 3rd Friday of the month) in the Dysart Council Chambers with 24 present.

The volunteers in charge of the Meals on Wheels program reported 1353 meals delivered up to September at a cost of $2.00 per meal.

A very rewarding program which is now in full swing in several parts of the county is the one where volunteers pick up Senior Citizens who are unable to get away from home, and take them out for a meal and a social afternoon. This program is known as "Wheels to Meals". Volunteers reported on such successful events in the Gelert/Ingoldsby/Lochlin/Donald area, Haliburton village area, Minden and Eagle Lake areas.

Thirty-seven persons attended the Senior Citizen's Luncheon held at the Wagon Wheel Restaurant October 22 - the first "Wheels to Meals" for Minden and district. Mrs. Jennings was our gracious hostess for a sumptuous meal and everyone enjoyed the socializing very much. A lot of enthusiasm for more such outings was shown.

A sincere thank-you from the Home Support Service organization and the Seniors of the county to the businesses which have provided meals at cost as their contribution to the older people in their communities - to Sunny Rock Lodge at Scott's Dam, Bonnie View Lodge on Kashagawamog until it closed, and now to Locarno Lodge on the same lake, Wagon Wheel restaurant south of Minden, Extencicare Haliburton, Mr. Fogg's Carnarvon, Sir Sam's Inn Eagle Lake and Hyland Crest Minden.

Mrs. Thorne of the Haliburton Senior Citizens Apartments had informed the Support Services of their wish for postal boxes near their building to avoid the dangerous winter walks for mail. They received full support from the Haliburton Post Office in this regard, but legislation prevents such a change. The Support Services have been in touch with provincial and federal representatives. Letters of reply were read which were encouraging.

A Directory of Community Services will be available soon. A special section for Seniors will be distributed through the Senior Clubs in the county and will also be available at the office (upstairs in the Dysart Municipal Building in Haliburton Village). This section will contain information on Haliburton County Home Support Services, Government Programs for Seniors, Senior Citizen's Clubs, and Senior's Institutional Homes.

The recent survey which was made of all senior citizens in Haliburton County is being processed; 70% of the letters were returned. The answers received from the West Guilford/Maple Lake/Eagle Lake area contained many requests for a bus service to Haliburton village once a week. The arrangements for this service are now complete. If the bus is full, the charge will be $2.00 return (9:30 a.m. - 2:00 p.m.). Anyone interested, contact Joy Fielding 754-2178 West Guilford; Emily Schroter 754-2718 Eagle Lake; and Ev Stata 754-2204 Maple Lake. The Royal Canadian Legion have very kindly offered a room as a rest center for the day the bus will run, and a volunteer will be there with coffee and tea.

The Senior Volunteers of the Home Support Services held a workshop at PineStone Inn in September where they met their counterparts from Peterborough, Apsley, Scugog and the Ministry of Social Services. It was an interesting and informative day when new legislation of interest to seniors was discussed and explained.

The purpose of the Haliburton Home Support Service is, of course, to implement programs to enable the elderly to remain independent in their homes for a longer period of time. If anyone is aware of someone needing this help, please call the office - 456-2951; either Marie Wallace, the co-ordinator, or Nancy Picard, secretary, will see that help is available.

Bantams: Boys: Gerald Morrison 237 double, 145 single. Girls: Rowan Meggison 194 double, 100 single.

Nancy Conway leads the junior girls in top average with a tally of 166. Leading the junior boys is Darryl Bell at 181.

The top Bantam average for the girls is held by Jane Conway at 133, while Jeff Francis leads the boys with a 119 score.

Library break-in

The Minden library was broken into Friday evening. Two juveniles from the community have been charged with the offense.

The pair broke into the building causing $100 damage in the process. They removed a quantity of cash from the library and a cassette recorder. The two male youths, aged 13 and 15, will appear in Juvenile Court in Lindsay.

The investigating officer is Constable Al Bibby.

Parent participation in education decisions proposed at meeting

For the first time in almost 25 years, it appears Haliburton County is going to have a parent-teacher organization.

A preliminary meeting held on October 22, attracted close to 40 interested parents and educators. The objective of the meeting was to bring concerned people together to discuss the need for parental involvement in the education process.

Those present were addressed by Mario Godlewski, Vice-President of the Toronto Teachers' Federation, who spoke about the School Staffing Committee. This concept of parent input is unique to the city of Toronto.

Mr. Godlewski described the evolution of this committee over the last ten years, from a group of parents and trustees who felt that parents should have more say in their children's education to an influential group (comprised of two educators to one parent) which makes some very important decisions.

Parents are actually involved in deciding, among other things, class size, the number of teachers allocated to each department, and how the children should be supervised during non-teaching times. They are consulted about curriculum, although the principal alone is responsible for setting up the programs. Since each school has its own committee, the decisions tend to reflect the individuality of that school.

According to Mr. Godlewski, the teachers welcome this parental opportunity to contribute their own ideas on how to best educate their children.

The model presented by the guest speaker was but one type of organization which could be formed within Haliburton County, the meeting was told. From the discussion following his presentation, one thing was evident, the parents of the County do feel that they should play a greater part in this very important phase of the socialization of their children.

Several parents volunteered to organize sub-groups within their own school. Once this is done, discussion of local issues will determine what type of organization is best suited to the needs of each school.

Organizers hope a large number of parents and teachers will become involved in each village. Only through active participation can parents see what their tax dollars are being used for and, more importantly, only through involvement can they see exactly what their children are experiencing for 6 hours a day, five days a week.

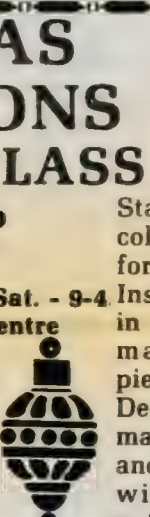

A meeting of the volunteers is scheduled for Thursday, October 30. Anyone interested in joining the group, or in obtaining more information, can call Belinda Brown at 489-2346.

STANHOPE NOTES

A.F. Stevenson

When asked if there were any matters of importance to be pursued by the incoming 1981-1982 council, the present members had the following thoughts on the subjects which might be considered.

Reeve Harrison: Work to maintain efficiency and harmony within the fire department. Continued upgrading of the roads and thus reducing maintenance costs. Proper handling of the sixty-six foot lakeshore allowances. Continue to seek grants for the Ontario Home Renewal Program. Strive for a clean environment and continue to keep council informed on matters affecting the environment. Recreation must be given continued support in the township by improving, where feasible, existing facilities. Provision of adequate services while striving to contain expenditures. Keeping the Township of Stanhope completely free of debenture debt.

Deputy Reeve Stouffer: Employment opportunities for the young people of the township is a matter of some concern. Improvement of forest management could result in a dramatic increase in revenues from this source. Steps in this direction could result in improved employment opportunities, with benefit to the community. Voluntary efforts in this municipality have been very productive in enriching the life of the township and these groups of community minded citizens should be given every reasonable encouragement. It can be said that these voluntary workers are providing a high level of assistance and could be considered as perhaps our most valuable asset.

Councilman Elvin Johnson: A closer look should be taken at the costs of transferring the sixty-six foot allowance. I believe they are higher than necessary. Positive action should be taken by environment agencies to check all shoreline sewage systems. Completion of an equipped playground is a must as is expansion of the park at the Hall's Lake swim area.

Councilman Davis: Keeping the budget at a reasonable level without creating an undue burden on the taxpayers, keeping in mind an increasing number of retirement people and a declining enrolment in our school system. We could possibly look more closely at programmes for our senior citizens, determining the needs that lie in the years ahead. I would like to see some way of encouraging local young people to upgrade their education in the field of skilled trades. With regard to recreation, I would like to see a drive made to install lights at the tennis courts.

Mrs. Penny Googh who, along with Ann Barker and Dale MacDonald, is a newcomer to the Council elections, states that she believes that improvement of Stanhope roads would be a benefit to the tourist industry and thus strengthen the local economy. She would encourage support for attracting industry to the township, but would strive to prevent any pollution of the environment. Mrs. Googh would also support measures to preserve the old Council Chamber, and try to make available reminders of Stanhope's past.

A discussion with Ann Barker brought out some concerns which she has with regard to municipal affairs and which were of interest. She was emphatic in stating that there should be no undertakings which would result in a municipal debenture debt, but felt that there should be a planned program for development which would make use of annual budgeting and current ability to pay. She also was of the opinion that some shoreline sewage systems were a matter of concern for those interested in the maintenance of the water quality of our lakes. She made it clear that she was on the side of the people who were anti-pollutionists. Another subject of some considerable concern was that of looking forward to needs of a substantial senior citizen population. It is her opinion that most of the seniors are self sustaining but the township will need to give consideration to some amenities of life for this segment of the population. At the other end of the age spectrum, the candidate saw a need for Stanhope Township to support every effort to encourage light clean industry to locate in Haliburton County, since the more such industry was established in this area, the better the employment opportunities would be for our own young people coming on to the labour market. Among the other considerations Ann has are those related to tourism, and on this point she feels that the township has done what lies within its means in encouraging this part of the community's life, but any opportunity to encourage this industry should be taken advantage of by the township.

Candidate Dale MacDonald indicated that he was concerned with the costs involved in transferring the sixty-six foot rights of way, but is also desirous of a clearer definition of this whole subject. Dale, who is one of the members of the fire department who is always available for day time duty, has an interest in a dependable and efficient fire protection service for the township and this will be a definite focus of interest for him should be elected to council.

We have indicated the thoughts of the candidates for election to council and now we would like to offer a few thoughts of our own. First we would publicly state our appreciation of the letter written by Mrs. Dorothy Kinsman to the papers, October 15th, regarding Terry Fox and his wonderfully inspiring action for a cause he believed in. We think her letter said for all of us, what we may have had a hard time putting together ourselves. In our opinion we need the inspiration of the young Terry Fox's of our nation, rather than the leadership of those marble-headed politicians who seem happy to rip our country apart to serve their own interest or those of their mentors, whoever they may be.

Certainly there seems to be mighty little leadership being offered in this matter of constitutional crisis, a crisis which few of us are aware of till our national leaders spout off, too often only in their own interest. The matter of the constitution should be handled in an extremely judicious and statesmanlike way, and this it is not getting. Statesmanship—Phooey.

Stanhope firefighters again demonstrated their community spirit and dedication when a fire call was received at 5.40 a.m. Tuesday October 21st.

A cottage was burning furiously on the south west part of Kushog Lake. Within 15 minutes the equipment was on the site, but since the house was already doomed all the firemen could do was extinguish the fire.

The remarkable thing about this event was that, at this early hour when many of the firemen were preparing to go to work, sixteen firefighters responded to the call.

SENIOR LEAGUE

by Linda English

The residents of Hyland Crest have had quite a busy and entertaining week. A good number of them are keeping their bodies fit at our regular fun and fitness program. The ladies are working hard these days preparing for the annual Christmas Bazaar which will be held in our auditorium on November 19. Monday evening's movies were very interesting indeed. "Figures" told us how Doulton China figures are made. These delicate figurines are all hand made from original moulds. The lengthy process is the reason that they are so very expensive.

"Return of the Swans" took us to the large bird sanctuary at Alymer, Ont. Hundreds of migrating whistling swans stop there every year. Whistling swans are the largest migrating bird and migrate the farthest of any species. They are named because of the whistling sound caused by the wind going through their feathers in flight. Their determination in migration is a natural wonder. The journey is as important as life itself. Tuesday morning, Rev. Douglas Miller of Minden United Church held an inspiring service in the Chapel. Later in the afternoon several residents gathered in the lounge to play a game of Bingo. Ray Jenkins was here in the evening to play some lovely tunes on the piano. Our thanks to Ray for entertaining us and we will look forward to his next visit for Music Night.

Wednesday, a few of our people enjoyed a delicious luncheon at the Wagon Wheel. The luncheon was especially for Senior Citizens in the area, and will be held on a regular basis. If you are interested in going, please contact Isabella Harrison 286-2566 for more information.

Mr. and Mrs. Drysdale, Mr. and Mrs. Blears and Mr. and Mrs. Coleman were here for Games Night. A good number of residents enjoyed playing euchre, crokinole and checkers.

The ladies of Lutterworth Estates brought a beautiful lunch for the Thursday Tea Party.

They served sandwiches and a delicious variety of home made goods. Thanks girls, it was terrific.

The week's activities ended with Grace Coburn leading the Sing Song on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Lucille Clarke was here to play the piano for us, and we thoroughly enjoyed the good music.

I would like to welcome Frances and Bob Krick to our home. I sincerely hope they will enjoy their new home with us.

Last but not least, a sincere thank you to the U.C.W. of Kinmount for their generous gift of $75 to the residents of Hyland Crest. The money will be used for Christmas Festivities.

Speaker at church

James P. Vold, a native of South Dakota and a graduate of the Philadelphia College of Bible, will be in Minden early next month.

Mr. Vold is a veteran of 28 years of pastoral experience between 1950 and 1979. He worked with Youth for Christ, Canada as minister at large in 1978 and 1979. He is presently Director of Alumni and Church Ministries at Ontario Bible College and Ontario Theological Seminary.

Pastor Vold has been involved in a number of additional ministries. He conducted a weekly broadcast in Ottawa for 10 years. He shared in the work of Family Radio in New Jersey. He has been at conferences in many churches in Canada and the U.S. He has appeared in conferences and chapels at many of the Christian schools in most of the Provinces.

Mr. Vold has been involved in the cause of Missions. He serves on several mission boards and in 1979 toured the Central American fields of Central American Missions International.

He will be speaking at the Minden Gospel Church November 9 to 12.

Grant for Dysart

Community planning study grants totalling $11,825 have been allocated to three Ontario municipalities Housing Minister Claude Bennett announced recently. This includes a $3,750 grant to the Municipality of Dysart et al.

The grants are designed to assist municipalities and planning boards in preparing official plans and zoning bylaws or in bringing these up to an acceptable level.

The funds can also be used in preparing zoning bylaws to replace minister's zoning orders, to finance planning programs for unorganized territories or for other relevant planning studies.

Storing spuds

Potatoes are so versatile that almost every cook keeps a store of them on hand. But marketing specialists at the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food caution that cool, dark storage is needed to maintain their quality more than a week or so.

The Ontario potatoes on the market now are called late or mature potatoes. They are hardier than summer varieties and can be stored in special cold storage facilities over the winter. It is important to care for them properly at home because even small variations in temperature can result in loss of quality.

Store potatoes in a cool, dark, well-ventilated area, preferably at temperatures between 8 and 10 degrees Celsius (46 to 50 degrees Fahrenheit). If you don't have this type of storage, keep potatoes at room temperature only 7 to 10 days. It is not advisable to store potatoes in the refrigerator because their flavor can change. And at temperatures above 10 degrees (50 degrees F) they'll soften and may begin to sprout.

Keeping potatoes in the dark is important to prevent them from turning green. If exposed to light, the area where the potato has turned green develops a bitter flavor. Also make sure that potatoes are kept in a dry, airy place. Dampness can cause mould.

It's not advisable to buy large quantities in fall and winter because of their maturity. Buy only as many potatoes as you can use in one month, provided they're properly stored. Toward the end of winter, buy only two weeks' supply.

Nine members of Minden Women's Institute attended the Victoria East District Craft and Bazaar Day at Fenelon Falls United Church Hall. There were exhibits on crafts from all 11 branches and tea was served and the baking was quickly sold. Demonstrations were going on, Indian Crafts by our Yvonne Beaucage, and Weaving on a loom, Cookies for Christmas and Cake decorating. Mrs. D.A. Scott, our senior member drew the door prize of one of the decorated cakes and all the ladies sang "Happy Birthday" to our member Vera Cowen who celebrated her birthday that day.

A Mindenite phoned and asked that we mention how much she appreciates the verses written by Florence Robinson and Bert Harrison - also she hopes these people keep on writing.

All their friends send wishes to these people who are in hospital or who have now come home: Audrey Currie, Doug McKelvey, Mrs. Warner Casey, Mrs. Calvin Wilson and Albert Cox.

Why people read - First to know what the world has done during the last twenty four hours, and is about to do today, second for the knowledge that they especially want in their work; and third, for what will bring their mind into a proper mood.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Pat Taylor, Geraldine Carr and Leonard Henry who passed away since last week.

Comedian Chick Stewart, says: "Thank God for single people. America would never have been discovered if Columbus had been married: 'You're going where? With whom? To find what? And I suppose she's giving you these three ships for nothing!'"

Elections are coming up in most parts of our County with everyone receiving a card with time and place of poll, advance poll for us is Nov. 1 and 8th at the Fire Hall opposite the Municipal Hall and open from 9 a.m. - 8 p.m. Election Day is Nov. 10 at Hyland Crest Senior Citizens

Home from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Whenever you have time, mark your ballot and then you can complain!!

Winners at the weekly Mini Card Party at St. Paul's Parish Hall last Thursday afternoon were for cribbage Gladys Wruth and Jeanne Sears and for euchre lone hands Ada Turrell, and others Shirley Elcome and Mary McKelvey. All newcomers are welcome, so come and meet the gang and these start at 1:30 sharp.

We were at the Ribbon Cutting and the presentations at the Seniors Apartments in Minden last Tuesday morning. The ceremony went smoothly with representatives from every level. Everyone present could have a piece of the ribbon cut by the dignitaries. An unofficial tour could be taken by everyone and all enjoyed the tempting food on the Buffet table. We noted that there was a T.V. Reporter there, but don't know if it is true, but none of the footage came out right.

Don't forget there are some ladies at Hyland Crest having birthdays in the coming month, these are Edith Allcorn Nov. 8, Gladys Dennis Nov. 10, Olive Tyler Nov. 14, and Jessie Walter No. 21. They might appreciate a card, a visit, or a phone call with good wishes.

There was a lively House Warming last Saturday night at the home of Susan and Dale Coulter of Bracebridge with many of their family and friends from Minden there to wish them well in their new home.

Here are some more of these winners of Wintario Toques, from Stedmans - Peter Walker, from Mae's - C. Summers, from Drug Store - Len Lonsberry, from Mike's Milk - Murray Hewitt and from Brown Owl - Anna Kunkel.

Bradley Robinson of Weston enjoyed a weekend visit with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Phil Robinson.

Spending the weekend in Toronto with relatives and friends were Doris and Jim Grant.

The October meeting of the Minden Red Cross Branch was held at the home of Dr. Jeff and Marion Lodenquai; twenty-five members were present to enjoy a most delicious dinner prior to the meeting.

If you want information on the quilt competition, just phone 457-2330 and there are four categories, one for everyone, perhaps there will be time before the show from Jan. 6 - 31 for you to make a winning quilt.

The Minor Hockey are having their first Hockey School this week and then on Sat. Nov. 1 will be their Hockey dance, and it is a masquerade with D.J. Tom Williamson and everyone is welcome and it starts at 8:30.

The man who deals in sunshine is the man who wins the crowds; He does a lot more business. Than the man who peddles clouds.

Coming events are the Minden and District Horticultural Society Pot Luck

Supper at the United Church Hall Tues., Nov. 4 at 6:30. Please bring own dishes and cutlery and a meeting will follow. Then Wed., Nov. 5 is the Annual Turkey Dinner at St. Paul's Parish Hall from 5-7 and then at 7:30 is the Minden U.C.W. meeting at 7:30 at their Church Hall. Speaker will be Dr. A. Jamieson and election of officers.

Last week was for Moose Hunting and we heard that many camps were very successful and others had no luck; just a week until Deer Hunting season and how will you know if that is a Buck coming your way? Hope the weather is better for the coming week, not much fun if you don't even get to miss a shot. Snow on the ground Monday but gone by afternoon, but it may soon be here to stay, so drive carefully. Cheerio until next time.

Lines from Lutterworth

by Jean Lacey

Hi! Well another weekend of rain but this one was a little different, we had snow mixed in with the rain.

The ladies of the Haliburton County Home Support Committee went on a bus trip to Toronto for a tour through the Parliament Buildings and then on to a shopping centre in Oshawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Nuetzel were up to their cottage over the weekend.

Clare Wright, from Mississauga, was up visiting in the area.

Pete and Fran Learn, from Niagara Falls are up for a few days of holidays.

Motorists PLEASE watch out for the kids on Hallowe'en night, as they will be so excited they might forget the rules of the road.

The wind was quite strong on Sunday and brought down a few trees in the area.

Rev. & Mrs. Wicks were dinner guests of Ken & Jeanne Bowron.

Riverside
Beside a river I'd like to dwell...
To wake to morning melodies,
Hear timber creaking in the breeze,
Mark the tide, its ebb and flow;
In the trees the seasons know...
A riverside house would please me well.

David Hope

Hint of the Week
The Laundry - Ring around the collar - Use a small paint brush and brush hair shampoo into soiled shirt collars before laundering. Shampoo is made to dissolve body oils. OR, apply a paste of vinegar and baking soda. Rub in and wash as usual. This method also removes dirt and mildew.

What should a skeleton always do with his eyes?
Dot them.

What do witches call little black cats?
Kittens

Did Dim-Wit Demon find the traffic jam?
Yes. A truck came and gave him a big jar.

If a witch planted a puppy, what tree would come up?
A dogwood tree

Love all, trust a few, do wrong to no one.

Bye for now. Take it easy. God bless till next time.
